INTRODUCTION TO THE COURSE

With the rapid development of the Internet and its increasing accessibility among people, most companies are extending their services through personalized websites. For developing websites, companies offer rewarding pay packages to proficient web developers. This is why IEM Labs brings to you this Full Stack Web Development Summer/Winter Training Program in America, wherein you will be given training on Web Development basics (both front-end and back-end). This will help you develop a strong fundamental base on web development and make you industry-ready.

IEM Labs is a distinguished ISO 27001 and ISO 9001 certified computer training institute. It is also a proud member of NASSCOM and EC Council. We have been dynamically training students on various subject areas since our commencement in 2016.
